My dear Emma

we were very glad to see Ned yesterday
am. & he seems glad to be back having been compelled to leave you - all well. We shall perhaps get away in 8 days - Ned goes today to St.
Charles with G. B. Allen to them on an expedition to see the opening of the new G. M. P. He was down at well
last evening & saw it running fast, abt 18 or 19 tons now - W. Whittaker is very low, & may pass away any hour, or probably will in a day or two. I write your sister to say agree to her going to England by Siberia 20 June - will you arrange as far as possible thro' Dr. Gull,

or they at Malvern
for Cheap Comfortable
lodgings for her &
give all the information needed for her to obtain such - I hope she will attend to her self & her own wants & not undertake to run every body else as she generally does - I rather think I will advise her to
to do something with the two boys & not leave them to run wild till Summer, Rising to the Chedron, Yrs truly

W. C.

Can't you perhaps act in in advance by looking up a nurse for Polly & get her annual & think of it & Communicate with her in future
