

—European gossip has it that the young King of Spain is broken-hearted over the late marriage of the daughter of the Duchess Sesno. Alfonzo hadn't the courage to attend the wedding, but shut himself up in his room, where he received every few minutes a note from an attendant informing him of the progress of the ceremony.

—The Emperor of Brazil finished a discussion of the religious question with the Pope in just 20 minutes, which, considering the importance of the subject, is certainly the quickest time on record. In Paris he spent his time conscientiously in visiting the museums, and academies, in each of which he was received with the highest distinction.

—Anne Brewster, writing from Rome to the New York World, says: One of the prettiest women in Rome just now is a young American bride on her wedding tour, the Countess Von Linden, daughter of Mrs. Loring Andrews, of New York. The young Countess has lately married the Chancellor of the King of Wurtemberg. Her husband and mother and herself are spending a few weeks in Rome. I have rarely seen so handsome and charming a young person as Mme. von Linden.
